Ammann media release – Heavy Compaction

Ammann and Conplant have agreed that from 1 March 2019, Ammann's Heavy Compaction Equipment range will be distributed in Australia through an expanded dealer network.

"For some time Ammann has been expanding its Light Compaction Equipment dealer network in Australia and this is an extension of that strategy", said Ammann Australia's Managing Director, Paul Vandersluis.

Conplant's Managing Director, Ian Coleman, said "We are absolutely committed to supporting our Ammann customers now and into the future. We have millions of dollars of parts in stock and the best technical team in the industry to support Ammann owners as well as our own hire fleet. For us, it's very much business as usual."

Moving forward, Australian Ammann customers will have the benefit of greater choice with a larger sales and support network and both Ammann and Conplant remain 100% committed to supporting Ammann customers in Australia.
